Matthew H. Sloan

Matthew Sloan is an experienced commercial litigator whose practice areas include complex business disputes, creditors' rights, fidelity and surety law, bankruptcy, construction law, real estate disputes and construction defects. He represents individuals, businesses and institutional creditors, as well as sureties and contractors in state, federal and bankruptcy court actions, as well as in arbitrations and administrative hearings.

Matthew regularly handles large complex commercial matters involving construction issues, including the investigation and resolution of performance and payment bond claims, and the prosecution and defense of cases involving differing site conditions, lost productivity, acceleration, termination and construction delay claims.

In addition, Matthew helps lenders and lessors achieve the most favorable recoveries from distressed property and non-performing loans and leases. He has experience with the judicial and non-judicial foreclosure of real property collateral and litigating deficiency claims against borrowers and guarantors, as well as with judicial and non-judicial recovery of personal property collateral. Matthew regularly assists clients with negotiating short sales, forbearance agreements and deeds in lieu.

Matthew currently serves as a Judge Pro Tem in the Maricopa County Superior Court.
